COMMITTEE WILL SOLICIT FUNDS

General Citizens' Committee of Fifteen will Assist Firemen's Committee in Raising Funds for Purchase of New Apparatus.

With the plan in view of making a quick and thorough canvass of the town, the fire company has appointed an auxiliary committee of fifteen citizens to assist them in their work of securing subscriptions of $3750 toward the purchase of a new combination water and chemical automobile fire fighting apparatus. The town council is expected to contribute a similar amount.

The following compose this auxiliary committee, Dr. J. A. Singmaster, Dr. W. A. Granville, Donald P. Mc-Pherson, Pius A. Miller, Charles S.
Duncan, Charles E. Stahl, J. Donald Swope, C. Wm. Beales, Allan B.
Plank, William H. Tipton, C. A.
Blocher, C. S. Reaser, Robert C. Miller, Wm. Arch McClean, and Philip R.
Bikle.

This committee was selected with the idea of having all the local interests represented, Dr. Singmaster and Dr. Granville appearing for the two institutions of learning; Mr. McPherson, Mr. Miller and Mr. Duncan for the two banks and the Trust Company;
Mr. Stahl representing the directors of the poor and Mr. Swope the county commissioners, and Mr. Reaser the manufacturing interests of the town.
Four merchants appear on the committee as well as representatives of the three newspapers.

A general spirit of co-operation was manifested by those selected and the committee will start its work with a meeting Friday evening when it is expected that definite plans will be formulated for the securing of the necessary funds. The plan of the fire company is to go before the new council at its organization meeting in January with the announcement that their half of the cost of the engine has been assured and that all council now need to do is to authorize its share of the cost and place the order. It will require about five months after the order is placed before the engine can be delivered.

Various methods have been suggested for the raising of the town fund, all of which will be considered Friday night. The company itself has pledged $500, leaving a balance of $3250 to be secured by popular subscription.

BISPHAM RECITAL A GREAT SUCCESS

Large and Representative Audience
Heard the Great Singer in Brua Chapel on Tuesday Evening. Financial Success also

David Bispham's singing in Brua Chapel Tuesday evening aroused the wonder and enthusiasm of one of the largest audiences, and doubtless the most representative, ever assembled in Gettysburg.

The program was well arranged. All of the songs were sung in English, as is Bispham's habit, and the singer's faultless enunciation supplied added charm. Particularly well done were the wildly dramatic "Edward" and the equally difficult "Ein Ton", a composition requiring the most skillful interpretation. The more familiar
"Two Grenadiers" and "Danny Deever" were superbly sung.

Bispham combines actor and vocalist as few if any of our concert singers succeed in doing. His histrionic power was well brought out in his recitation of "King Robert of Sicily" with its beautiful musical setting.

Mr. Harry M. Gilbert's accompaniments were beyond criticism, but it was in his solo work that the audience could more fully appreciate his perfect technique and interpretative skill.
His encore number, an arrangement of the Lucia Sextette for left hand, was a revelation.

Mr. Bispham and Mr. Gilbert have set the highest possible standard for future musical events in Gettysburg, as those who had heard them before knew full well they would. The concert marked the beginning of a series.
Students and faculty of the college and music lovers throughout the county, of whom there were many in the audience, are rejoiced at the prospect of securing at least once each year hereafter artists recognized as being leaders in their profession, for recitals at Gettysburg. The memories of Tuesday evening's music will long in-giver with us. The program follows:

Part I. Classical songs from European Composers. Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves ("Scipio"), G. F.
Handel; I Attempt From Lovelickness to Fly, H. Purcell; When Two That Love Are Parted, A. Secchi; Edward ("Percy's Reliques"), Carl Loewe; I'm a Roamer ("Son and Stranger"), F.
Mendelssohn; The Monotone (Ein Ton), P. Cornelius; When I was Page ("Falstaff"), G. Verdi; The Two Gren-adiers (Heine), R. Schumann; Mr.
Bispham, Piano solos, Nocturne (D.
Flut), F. Chopin; Rhapsodie (C. Major), E. von Dohnanyi, Mr. Gilbert.

Part II. Compositions by American Composers. An Exhortation, Cook;
Calm Be Thy Sleep (Tom Moore), Louis Elbel; Killiecrankie (Robert Burns), H. H. Wetzer; Danny Deever
("Judy and Kipling"), Walter Damrosch; Recitation to music, King Robert of Sicily (Longfellow), Rosseter G.
Cole, Mr. Bispham.

Financially, the event was a success, clearing between $30 and $40 over the heavy expenses. The balance will be used toward the next concert or recital.

RETURN OVER A MILLION MORE

Assessors of the County Return More than a Million Dollars More Money at Interest than in 1912. Two Townships Decrease.

The returns of the assessors in the various towns and townships of the county show an increase of $1,077,336 in the taxable money at interest, securities etc. over last year.

The county commissioners have for some years been of the opinion that the old method of making the assessment of personal property—money at interest—has not been getting the results. This year the assessors were instructed to furnish a blank to every taxpayer in their district and to qualify them to the accuracy of their return. The result has been a total return of $3,947,193 as against $2,869,- 857 in 1912.

In only two of the districts was a decrease reported, Franklin and Freedom townships. The former showed a decrease of $10,338 and the latter of $259. This is said to be explained by the fact that taxables who had previously returned large amounts have moved from the districts. The districts that showed increases and the amounts are as follows:

Abbotstown	$28,567
Arendtsville	1,343

Post cards of notice are going out this week, and the commissioners have fixed days for hearing appeals on county tax and personal property tax.
All hearing for appeal will be held at the commissioners' office between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m., each day and the schedule of dates and districts

THIRTEEN DOES IN SINGLE HERD

An Indication that there should be a Closed Season, Say those who Claim to Know. Deer Shot on Final Day of the Season.

W. I. Pollinger, of Chambersburg, saw thirteen does in one herd along the oil pipe line, about a mile from the White Pine Sanitarium. The Chambersburg Public Opinion says:

"The fact of this many does in one herd is the strongest argument that could be heard in favor of closing the deer hunting season for a number of years."

A little farther on he came across the body of a big doe. The body was still warm and a trail of fresh blood showed that the unlawful and fatal shot had been fired just a little while before. Forester R. G. Conklin ordered the carcass sent to the Chambersburg Hospital.

Wanton destruction of deer and elk by hunters in Center County is reported by eight Lebanon hunters just back from a two weeks' camp in Cin-cinnaohoning.

The bodies of thirteen does and two elk were discovered by the Lebanon hunters. The elk weighed 700 and 400 pounds, and the carcasses were shipped to the nearest hospital.

Clarence Bream shot a fine eight prong buck on the closing day of the season.

Monday, while Charles Simmers and Samuel Bumbaugh were in the mountain, near Mont Alto, for a load of wood, they came upon a large buck that was quietly nibbling away at the grass. The horse was standing in the road hitched to the wagon and the deer walked up within a few feet of the animal. The two men were behind the wagon and if they had had a gun they could have shot it. As soon as the deer saw the men it jumped into the bushes and in a short time came back on the road.

MEXICAN REBELS DEFEAT FEDERALS

General Villa Drives Back Huerta's Forces at Juarez

SALAZAR REPORTED SLAIN

Many Were Killed and Wounded in Two Days' Battle Near Border Town.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 26.—Repelled Monday and Monday night in their attack on the rebels, who recently captured Juarez, the Mexican Federal forces attacked again, and again were worsted in the fierce fighting.

The Federalists were driven back and the Constitutionalists, under General Francisco Villa, claim a complete victory.

The Constitutional officers in Juarez reported that the Federalists had been driven back all along the rebel front, and that General Villa had ordered a general advance of his men against the Federalists, declared to be in retreat.

A newspaper man stationed at the top of a wireless telegraph tower 300 feet high, three miles east of El Paso, confirmed the rebel report that the Federalists were falling back south of Juarez. He could see the maneuvers with field glasses.

A general advance was ordered by General Villa. The only fighting close to Juarez was that directed against General Salazar's Federalists at Zaragoza, east of Ysleta.

General Salazar, one of the four Federal leaders, is reported to have been shot to death in the battle. Forty more of his command were taken before General Villa and immediately executed. They were lined up and shot, according to a wounded officer, brought to Juarez.

Colonel Juan N. Medina denied any knowledge of the capture of Salazar, but the report was current in Ysleta that he was a prisoner. It was also reported that Villa had been personally directing his men against Salazar, whom the rebels are anxious to capture and bring to Juarez, where he will be hanged as a traitor.

The fighting at Zaragoza, opposite Ysleta, Texas, where the battle began, ceased at noon. The battle there had been heavy, the roar of artillery being plainly heard in El Paso, Texas, twelve miles away. Colonel Juan N. Medina, chief of staff to General Villa, said the Federalists had been driven back as far as thirty miles south of Juarez, except those surrounded at Zaragoza.

It was announced that Colonel Porfirio Talamantes, one of the rebel colonels, was killed in the battle.

The Federal troops resumed fighting in their attempt to recapture Juarez from the Constitutionalists, under General Francisco Villa.

Apparently they depended on their heavy guns to break the rebel lines, the battle opening with heavy cannonading. Monday the fighting was torn to twelve miles south of Juarez, and about 7,000 rebels and 5,000 Federalists were engaged.

Simultaneously firing opened south-east of the Juarez race track and opposite Ysleta, Texas. The Federalists used cannon. The appearance of the Federalists near the race track indicated that had worked their way around the rebel outposts during the night.

Reports from Ysleta were that the fighting was heavy. These reports stated that Villa had taken four wagon loads of supplies and ammunition across the border at Socorro during the night, together with a considerable supply of forage.

The sound of the battle south of Juarez, the center of General Villa's battle front, was heard in El Paso early, but the fighting was not close enough for any missiles to fall in Juarez or El Paso.

TONS OF TURKEY DESTROYED AS BAD

Poultry Spoiled in Shipment From Farms.

Philadelphia, Nov. 26.—Turkeys were retailing at from 28 to 35 cents a pound, 30 cents being the prevailing quotation and 35 cents the exception rather than the rule.

The demand in the wholesale and retail markets was lively, and though supplies of the best selections were said to be limited, there was no indication that there would not be "enough to go round."

The unseasonably warm weather from Wednesday until Saturday last week caused much fresh-killed poultry to spoil in transit, with consequent condemnations when it reached Philadelphia.

Dr. David McKibben, chief of the Philadelphia meat inspection bureau, said that more than 9000 pounds of poultry had been condemned, of which about 8000 pounds were turkeys.

"This was not cold storage stuff," he said. "They were fresh-killed turkeys and chickens. They were killed during the warm weather last week, not properly cooled to relieve them of the annual heat and spoiled during transportation. Most of the shipments condemned were from Ohio and Virginia. I do not recall any from the farmers of Pennsylvania."

Tons of Turkeys Destroyed.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Health department inspectors destroyed ten tons of spoiled dressed turkeys which had been seized in local commission houses. Part of nearly every car of turkeys and geese arriving in Buffalo have been found unfit for use because the fowl, being packed without cooling, had spoiled in transit.

SEPARATE YOUTHFUL COUPLE

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 26.—"What married and can't have your husband? I think it is a shame," declared pretty fourteen-year-old Minnie Reinhardt, at the Reading railway station here, when Michael Coakley, her eighteen-year-old husband, was taken in charge by his parents and hurried to his home at Shenandoah.

The eloping couple had just returned from Elkton, Md., where they were married. The parents, however, think the couple too young to begin married life.

The bride of a day is disconsolate and threatens to use the law to get back her husband. "I think it is real mean to take him away from me," she says. "They could let him come and live with me. It is a shame the way they are treating me."

PENNSY INDICTED FOR REBATING

Accused of Failing to Observe Railroad Freight Rates.

CONSPIRACY ALSO CHARGED

Officers of Grain Elevator Company Accused of Giving False Weight to Get Lower Rates.

Philadelphia, Nov. 26.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company and five officers and former officers of the Keystone Elevator and Warehouse company, and the firm of L. F. Miller & Sons, grain dealers, at 2331 North Broad street, were indicted upon six separate charges by the federal grand jury for alleged rebating by the railroad at the Keystone elevator at the North Broad street station.

The individual defendants are Harvey C. Miller, formerly the active head of Miller & Sons; his brothers, John Elsie and Morris F. Miller; Thomas M. Sloan and John F. McLaughlin, superintendent of the Keystone elevator.

The indictments are based upon charges of discrimination which have been made from time to time, and which were presented to the grand jury early in the fall, several years after they had been made the subject of investigation by the interstate commerce commission.

J. E. Miller, F. Miller and H. C. Miller, who, during the period mentioned in the indictments were copartners in the firm of Miller & Sons; Sloan, the bookkeeper, and McLaughlin are indicted on three counts, charging them with conspiring with the railroad to obtain low rates on grain shipped to the elevator and to obtain certain refunds by making false claims.

H. C. Miller and McLaughlin, it is charged, in consequence of a lease whereby the railroad agreed to rent the grain elevator, machinery, buildings, etc., to the elevator company, were acting for and employed by the railroad.

This lease was entered into on April 30, 1910, and under its terms the property was rented to the elevator company for a year beginning May 1, 1910, at an annual rental of $8000. Under the agreement the railroad was to keep in repair its tracks surrounding the elevator, as well as certain machinery, and to pay the elevator company 20 cents a ton on all grain delivered out of the elevator to cars for local delivery.

The railroad, as a corporation, is indicted in a separate bill, containing fifteen counts, for failing to observe the published tariffs as to demurrage charges. It is set out in the bill that from Sept. 3, 1911, to May 1, 1913, the railroad kept on file with the interstate commerce commission its tariffs and schedules, showing the terminal demurrage charges, for the detention at North Philadelphia by the elevator company of cars used in transporting grain from Maryland and Delaware. The charge as published was $1 a car a day.

Despite this universal rate, the indictment sets forth, the elevator company kept cars five days longer than the usual time allowed by the railroad for unloading, for which the demurrage charge of $5 was never collected. A number of similar offenses are cited in the indictment which tend to show the alleged friendly relation between the carrier and the elevator company.

CITIES IN RACE FOR CONVENTION

Want Honor of Entertaining Republican National Gathering.

EARLY DATE IS PROBABLE

It is Believed a Majority of the Committee Favors a New System of Delegates.

Washington, Nov. 26.—It is apparently taken for granted that when the Republican national committee meets in Washington next month it will call a special national convention to change representation.

Different cities are already applying for the position of convention city, as if the delegates had already been called together and the only detail lacking was that of the place of meeting.

In order to have such convention called it will be necessary to have a majority of the national committee vote in its favor. The committee is made up of one member from each state and one member from each territory. This makes a body of fifty-three men, so that there must be twenty-seven in favor of changing the present system of representation to start the convention ball rolling.

The proposed change would affect greatly the voice of the southern states in the national convention. Naturally, there is opposition to the plan in that section. And there are some sixteen southern states.

Then, too, the territories would lose their present representation, and there are five territorial members of the committee. That makes twenty-one votes that might be mustered against any change of program. Besides, there are several northern states that have always stood with those of the south in Republican politics. The alliance has been very strong in the past, and very effective.

So it would take but a few northern votes on the committee to defeat a motion to call a special convention. This is a situation that has not been realized by many who have talked learnedly about the duty of the committee to meet at once and take action.

The party leaders of the north are in favor of the change. Some of them have been for it these many years, and have fought for it on the convention floor. But it would do the party more harm than good to have the committee called together and then have the proposition defeated. It was not very long ago that such a result was feared. There is no doubt of the sentiment of the Republican party in favor of the change, and this sentiment has been having its effect.

The result is that today a majority of the national committee is probably in favor of a new system of delegates and will vote so in December.

So a Republican national convention will probably be called. If so, it is likely to be held in March or April of next year. The convention would consist of the same number of delegates as attended the national convention of 1912. The committee has no right to change the representation, so the call would go out to each state to send four delegates at large and two from each congressional district. This makes a convention of a few less than 1100 delegates.

Already several cities have signified their desire to have the convention. Among them are Philadelphia, Washington, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis.

A BIG COAL DEAL

6000 Acres in Greene County, Pa., Is Sold For $4,000,000.

Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 26.—The second largest coal deal in Greene county coal lands was completed when J. V. Thompson and forty-seven other prominent Greene county residents conveyed nearly 6000 acres of coal lands to the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

The land is worth from $525 to $700 an acre, and it is understood that the purchase price was about $4,000,000, payable in from three to ten years.

The sale means that an extension of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad will be made to Rice's Landing. It will also connect with the Monongahela river at the mouth of Bunker creek, thus giving an outlet to the coal mined in Greene county.

Man Swims to His Death.

New York, Nov. 26.—A well dressed man, presumably a Philadelphian, plunged into Newark bay from a Central Railroad of New Jersey train when it stopped on a trestle while entering New York. As he struck the water the man began to swim toward the Staten Island shore. Boatmen set out after him, but he disappeared and was no doubt drowned.

Blown to Death by Gas.

Sharon, Pa., Nov. 26.—Blown from the dome of a tank car with the speed of a cannon ball when gas exploded, Daniel Rosco, twenty-eight years old, crashed through a sheetiron roof over the repair shop of the Pennsylvania Tank Car company. He landed 150 feet away. His body was terribly mutilated. Mike Perot, another employe, was probably fatally burned.

NEXT ATTRACTION

Joshua Simpkins to be the Next Play at Walter's.

"Joshua Simpkins", a four act New England play, will be presented at Walter's Theatre on Friday evening, November 28. The climax of stage realism, it is asserted, has been reached in the presentation of the stirring saw-mill scene in "Joshua Simpkins" and will be presented in this city by a peculiar mechanical device which has never been introduced here before. The company also boasts of a splendid orchestra, which is carried complete by the organization, to aid in the proper presentation of the play, which is said to abound with musical and dancing specialties of a high order. To assist "Joshua Simpkins" in popularity, a band of music is also carried and a concert is given which is said to be far above anything usually heard with a traveling musical organization. The parade will leave the theatre at the usual time and take the usual route, making a burlesque parade—advertisement.

FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

Are Told How to Regain Strength and Vigor.

As one grows old the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, the organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth, the circulation is poor, the blood thin and digestion weak.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil is the ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. Vinol also fortifies the system against colds and thus prevents pneumonia.

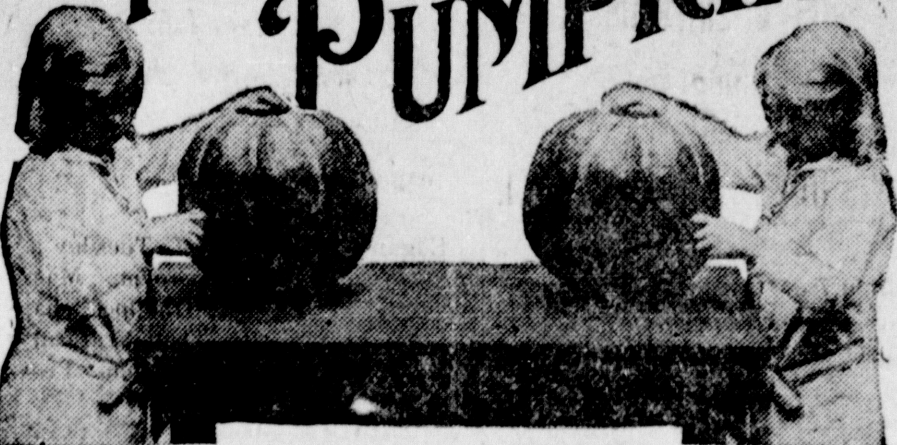

Mrs. Mary Ivey, of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people, I am sure you would be unable to supply the demand. I never took anything before that did me so much good as Vinol. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used in my life."

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble, old people, and create strength we will return your money. People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa.

THE PUMPKIN

THANKSGIVING POEM BY JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER

ON the banks of the Xeull the dark Spanish maiden Comes up with the fruit of the tangled vine laden,
And the creol Cuba laughs out to behold
Through orange leaves shining the broad spheres of gold,
Yet with dearer delight from his home in the north
On the fields of his harvest the Yankee looks forth,
Where crocknecks are coiling and yellow fruit shines
And the sun of September melts down on his vines.

Ah, on Thanksgiving day, when from east and from west,
From north and from south, comes the pilgrim and guest;
When the gray haired New Englander sees round his board
The old broken links of affection restored;
When the care wearied man seeks his mother once more
And the worn matron smiles where the girl smiled before,
What moistens the lip and what brightens the eye,
What calls back the past, like the rich pumpkin pie?

Oh, fruit loved of boyhood, the old days recalling,
When wood grapes were purpling and brown nuts were falling;
When wild, ugly faces we carved in its skin,
Glowing out through the dark, with a candle within;
When we laughed round the corn heap, with hearts all in tune,
Our chair a broad pumpkin, our lantern the moon,
Telling tales of the fairy who traveled like steam
In a pumpkin shell coach, with two rats for her team!

Then thanks for thy present. None sweeter nor better
E'er smoked from an oven nor circled a platter.
Fairer hands never wrought at a pastry more fine;
Brighter eyes never watched o'er its baking than thine.
And the prayer which my mouth is too full to express
Swells my heart that thy shadow may never be less,
That the days of thy lot may be lengthened below,
And the fame of thy worth like a pumpkin vine grow,
And thy life be as sweet, and its last sunset sky
Golden tinted and fair as thy own pumpkin pie.

How to Make Christmas Sweets

THE candy season is again with us. In most families home-made candies are an important feature of the Christmas festivities. The following tested recipes will be helpful to those who need instruction in the pleasurable task of candy making.

Here is a never failing fudge recipe: One-fourth cupful milk, one cupful sugar, butter the size of a walnut, two squares or two ounces of chocolate. Place on stove and melt all together and boil until they cling together in the water without being brittle. When stirring quickly, if the bottom of the pan shows and edges suggest sugariness, it is getting done. Just before taking off the fire add one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, then beat thoroughly until creamy. Pour into a well buttered platter and when almost cool cut into squares. If preferred add chopped nuts just before removing from the fire or form the fudge into balls while warm and roll in ground nuts. You may use peanut butter instead of ordinary butter, especially if you do not use chopped nuts. Preserved figs are excellent when coated with fudge or when mashed and mixed in fudge while warm.

Two cupfuls of brown sugar boiled with milk and stirred continually until it forms a wax ball when tested in cold water makes an excellent candy if mixed with chopped raisins.

This is an inexpensive and delicious candy: Grind one cupful of blanched almonds and the same amount of peanuts in the food chopper. Make a rich fondant with light brown sugar and milk. Stir the fondant constantly until it forms a ball of wax when tested in cold water. Remove it from the fire and stir until it foams. A little cream of tartar will assist in making it creamy. Pour the ground nuts into the candy and place all on a buttered pan. While warm cut the candy into squares. Do not break the pieces apart until cool. When cold dip each piece into melted chocolate, unsweetened.

A firm, ripe banana cut into rather thin slices and dipped in melted sweet chocolate is delicious. Place on oiled paper and set in cool place to harden.

Dip marshmallows into melted chocolate, roll them in ground nuts and set aside to harden. Marshmallows hastily dipped into hard lemon taffy make a good confection.

Melt unsweetened chocolate in a double pan and dip loaf sugar into the melted chocolate and sprinkle the pieces with ground nuts. This is a good candy to give a child.

A Gift Suggestion.

An ideal gift for the bachelor is the "handy" box, containing tags, rubber bands, labels, thumb tacks, twine—in fact, almost any article one might need in dispatching a package or for the hundred and one other conveniences to which these useful articles may be put. One bachelor says he derived more pleasure from one of these boxes which was given to him than from almost any other gift he could mention. The boxes come in various sizes, the number of useful articles contained varying with the size of the box. A gift of this character is well worth considering where a personal gift is not desirable.

COOMBS WILL BE OLD SELF.

Weights Off; to Be Put in Plaster Cast; After Rest May Train.

John Coombs, the Athletics' pitcher, for the first time in eight weeks is able to move about, the reason being that the last of the thirty pounds of weight has been removed from his head and feet by order of his physician, Dr. J. B. Carnett.

Coombs will be put in a plaster cast and will be kept there for several days. Then he will be able to be wheeled about and sit up a little every day. His advance on the road to recovery is assured, and the big pitcher is as happy as a small boy at Christmas time.

Under the positive orders of Dr. Carnett, Coombs will go to his home in Maine and remain there until May, when he may be allowed to go to Philadelphia and begin to train. It is doubtful if he will go south with the team. He will remain in the cold climate, and only when the summer sun begins to break over Philadelphia will he start training. His doctors have informed him that he will be as good as ever and that all he needs to do is to take his time about getting into action.

Walter Schang, Joe Bush, Amos Strunk, Eddie Murphy and Jack McInnes visited the "iron man" and paid their respects.

Willie Ritchie intends to cross the bounding main and try conclusions with some of England's mitt artists. Just when the little champion will sail is problematical, but it is said that everything has been arranged and that Willie has been promised some big money by sporting men abroad. Vaudeville contracts have also been hinted at, but these rumors are given little credence here.

Thanksgiving at Lonesome Hollow

By FRANCIS A. MILLER

SEEMS awfully forlorn to eat a Thanksgiving dinner all alone," said Milly soberly, looking over at the young fellow who sat mending a harness strap beside the blazing hearth. "I haven't the heart to get up a big dinner for just us two."

"I don't see what else we can do. No neighbors to invite except old Pete Sprat, and he wouldn't come. We might send him something by way of being neighborly."

"And be turned away for our pains," the woman laughed.

"You can't even go out on the 'high ways and hedges' and gather in stragglers like the ancient host of Bible fame. Maybe it is just as well not to have all the work of getting up a Thanksgiving dinner, for it seems to me that you look tired, Milly. What's the matter?"

"Nothing, Jim; I guess I need a little outing. I'll take a run across the hollow and be back before supper."

Milly put on her cloak and went out into the crisp autumn afternoon. The woods were bare except for a few torchlike flames of red which marked the presence of an occasional gum tree. The sky was clear, cold and pallid, tinged with a greenish glow where the dark forests rimmed the far horizon. Not a sign of human habitation was visible, and not a sound broke the vast stillness save the steady tap-tap of a woodpecker. The loneliness oppressed Milly strangely. For two years she had endured it in cheerful silence, working patiently at whatever her hand found to do in the rough little shack, which had gradually assumed a cozy, homelike appearance. They had left the busy, grinding east in quest of health for her young husband, who was slowly regaining his lost strength and vigor in the bracing climate of Colorado, which alone kept Milly's heart light and hopeful, but in spite of that joyful fact she could not dispel a shiver of loneliness when she thought of the long, dreary winter before them.

"I'D LIKE TO HAVE YOU ALL TAKE DINNER WITH US TOMORROW."

"I'm getting morbid simply for the want of a little company," she said as she walked down the untraveled road in the face of the crisp north wind. "That will never do for you, Milly Benet. For Jim's sake, you mustn't give way to such foolishness."

Suddenly Milly's ear caught the sound of chopping, which seemed to come from the hollow beyond the divide. She turned and made her way easily through the leafless thicket, walking briskly over the hill and down the opposite descent until she distinctly heard voices. Farther on, at the edge of a natural clearing, she came upon a party of travelers camped beside a newly kindled fire, where a lean, gaunt appearing fellow busied himself with preparations for the evening meal. They were eight in all—a rough, unkempt lot, in leather jackets and rusty boots. Beside the cook lay a bag of flour, a side of bacon and two jugs stoppered with cornucopia.

Milly stopped abruptly when she found herself observed by the curious eyes of the eight strangers, then changed her mind and crossed the icy little brook and made her way toward the fire.

A big, black whiskered man dropped his armful of horse feed and looked at her piercingly. "Lost?" he asked brusquely.

"No. I live two miles up the divide. I happened to hear you chopping and stopped out of curiosity."

The man's insistent gaze annoyed her, but the forlorn, gaunt appearance of the little group incited a little throb of pity and made her think gratefully of her own cozy, cheerful little shack, with Jim waiting for her beside the glowing hearth.

"I suppose you are simply camping here for the night," she ventured, looking about at the meager comforts of the camp.

"Well, no," answered the black browed man, who impressed her at once as being spokesman of the party.

They're Called "Help" by Courtesy.

"This is a large house you have," said Mrs. Pozozle to Mrs. Puzuzzins. "Do you have to keep much help?"

"I keep two," cooed Mrs. Puzuzzins, "but they're not much help."

"We came down to prospect a bit. There's talk of gold in this claim, and if it's worth our while we may set up for a week or two."

"Oh, then, you'll be here over Thanksgiving, won't you? I'd like to have you all take dinner with us tomorrow."

The man looked at his fellows with a curious smile, half questioning, half incredulous. "It's rather unexpected," he remarked humorously.

"Oh, we're all neighbors out here, you know," Milly explained cordially. "My husband would be very glad to have you with us. We are from the east, and we're used to having company for Thanksgiving."

"Your husband is a prospector, too, I take it?"

"Oh, no. He came out here for his health two years ago, when he was all run down with overwork. We expect to stay here until he's quite well."

"We didn't notice any houses as we passed along. Where do you live?"

"Two miles below here on the Sunrise road, not on the trail. Will you come over tomorrow?"

"Well, being as you're so kind as to take the trouble to invite us, we'll be glad to accept your hospitality and thank you."

"Very well. I shall expect you promptly at 12. There are eight of you, aren't there? I want you all, remember. Now I'll go for the walk is rather long. You cross the hill and go straight south till you reach the Sunrise wagon road, which will take you directly to our shack, going west. Good night."

Milly returned in great good spirits. Jim looked dubious at first, but he was loath to dampen the ardor of his good little helpmeet by voicing his doubts as to the wisdom of inviting eight strangers to their home.

"I hope we have enough stuff on hand," said cautious Jim. "It will take heaps to satisfy eight hungry men, you know."

"Of course we have plenty. We'll kill both turkeys, and I'll make four pies instead of one and two boiled puddings besides. We'll have potatoes and turnips and the canned corn I put up myself and as much cider as they can drink. For dessert we'll have real good coffee and iced cake. Oh, we'll have enough, you may be sure. Jim, you must rig up a table big enough to seat them all."

They worked till bedtime that night, peeling apples, seeding raisins and picking the turkeys. The next morning Milly rose long before dawn and set about her baking and brewing, while Jim put up a big deal table that stretched almost the length of the room, and by noon it was set with all the luscious vands of an eastern Thanksgiving dinner, set with homely platters and dishes, to be sure, but not rougher in appearance than the men who finally seated themselves about the steaming board. Jim beamed hospitably from his place at the head of the table and tried dutifully to "act as if the company belonged there," as Milly had said. The big, black whiskered fellow whom the others addressed as Blaisedale watched Milly with a curious interest which made her uncomfortable.

"You're mighty comfortably fixed for these diggings," said he presently, looking about the walls with their homely prints and ornaments.

"Yes, we are rather comfortable, thanks to Milly's ingenuity," Jim answered, with a glow of affectionate pride.

"You're lucky to be able to afford such luxuries, for all those fancy fixings are luxuries in Colorado," Blaisedale remarked significantly.

"Yes, I count myself one of the luckiest men in the world. I owe everything to Milly, even my life. I was a poor law student when we were married, and when my health broke down she simply took all responsibility into her own hands. It was her money that enabled me to come here. It's her bit of money that we're living on now. All that she has in the world is in the little bank at Sunrise, where she goes once a month to draw the necessary sum for our provisions. But now that I've got to work we're making our way along without much help from the bank. I tell you I hated to use that money last enough, but if it hadn't been for that the Lord only knows what would have become of me."

Milly blushed deeply and becomingly. "Why, it doesn't amount to that," said she, with a snap of her brown fingers. "All the money in the world would be worthless to me if I didn't have Jim."

"I've heard a saying about a good wife being a treasure," Blaisedale remarked. "Your wife proves the truth of it."

The dinner was a great success. Blaisedale, who seemed to exert a mysterious influence over his fellows, grew very talkative and entertaining. He told stories of queer places and queer people, which savored of familiarity with lawlessness and lawbreakers, but which kept Jim breathlessly interested until the eight strange guests made their adieux. Blaisedale, who was last to go, turned to the threshold and held out his hand to Milly.

"You remind me of some one I once knew," he said simply, "and for her sake I'd like to shake hands with you. Thank you for your hospitality. You won't regret your kindness."

That night when Jim and Milly sat talking beside their cheerful hearth a scrap of white paper crept mysteriously under the door coping. Jim rose hurriedly and threw back the door, but no one was in sight and not a sound broke the deep stillness of the icy night. Milly read the note over his shoulder, and this is what it said:

Some curious whim prompts me to tell you that it was our intention to break into and rifle the little eggshell bank at Sunrise before quitting these diggings, but for the sake of Milly's "bit of money" it shall go unharmed. Thanking you for a pleasant hour,

BLAISDALE.

CAUTION!

The great popularity of the clean, pure, healthful WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT is causing unscrupulous persons to wrap rank imitations that are not even real chewing gum so they resemble genuine WRIGLEY'S. The better class of stores will not try to fool you with these imitations. They will be offered to you principally by street fakirs, peddlers and the candy departments of some 5 and 10 cent stores. These rank imitations cost dealers one cent a package or even less and are sold to careless people for almost any price. If you want Wrigley's look before you buy. Get what you pay for. Be SURE it's WRIGLEY'S.

We are inserting the above caution solely to protect our customers, who are continually writing us that they have been deceived by imitations which they purchased thinking they were WRIGLEY'S.

Colds Are Nature's Danger Signals

It is what colds lead to that makes them dangerous. Even a slight cold or cough—if not checked in time—may have very serious consequences. Every time you cough some part of the delicate lung tissue is weakened and forms a breeding ground for the germs of consumption (Tubercle Bacilli).

This is what makes the use of such a remedy as Bear's Emulsion so particularly valuable. The usual cod liver oil emulsion upsets the stomach and throws the system out of order. But Bear's Emulsion is a natural mineral product (not animal). It nourishes and tones the system, while it soothes, heals and relieves the tissues. Very soon all coughing or hacking stops as does also expectoration.

Bear's Emulsion is a time tried successful preparation and is on sale at nearly all local drug stores—$1.00 the bottle or six for $5.00. Interesting and valuable literature about consumption—its prevention and treatment—together with important information regarding the treatment of colds and run down systems will be sent on request if you write to Dr. John D. Bear, Elkton, Va.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Gettysburg People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first; But if you find 'tis from the kidneys; That serious kidney troubles may follow;

That dropsy or Bright's disease may be the fatal end. You will be glad to know the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Gettysburg citizen. Mrs. C. F. Brinkerhoff, 25 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "One of my family has had great benefit from Doan's Kidney Pills and we willingly recommend them. Last winter the one had a severe attack of kidney complaint and pains in the small of his back. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills made a cure."

Mrs. Brinkerhoff is only one of many Gettysburg people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches, if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Brinkerhoff had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c. all stores. SOLDIERS AND SAILORS CELEBRATE CHRISTMAS

By every American soldier and sailor Christmas day is celebrated with feasting and sports, though the men may be thousands and thousands of miles away from home. Dinner, consisting of turkey, mince pie and all other delicacies, is served. There is also a generous supply of soft drinks. Intoxicants are never permitted in army and navy circles.

Those who wish to attend church in the morning are permitted to do so, although this is not compulsory, as in the British army. It is not always possible for sailors to go to the church around the corner, but religious exercises are conducted by the vessel's chaplain. The afternoon is usually devoted to athletic sports.

It may be that a concert of amateur theatricals will enliven the evening or that the men will receive permission to give a dance. Those who wear Uncle Sam's uniform do not lose their taste for social pleasures and as a rule are capable entertainers.

Even the men of an outpost, encamped far in the interior of some Philippine province, attempt to invest the day with as much of the Christmas spirit as possible unless the country is in an unsettled state and partial war conditions prevail.

The British soldier makes the celebration of Christmas the chief event of the year, and his only regret is that the day does not extend over an entire week.

A CHRISTMAS TREE TABLE.

A favorite idea for dinner entertaining is the Christmas tree table. Tiny fir trees, arranged with Kate Greenaway symmetry in straight lines, are set in a row, one little Christmas tree being placed between every two guests. This is not, however, so successful in the case of a round or oval table as it is where a dinner party for twelve or more is concerned, necessitating a long table. The trees, festooned from one to the other with ropes of tinsel and garlands of silver and golden "rain," give a most festive appearance to the dinner.

Each tiny tree, planted in a red lacquer tub, is hung with minute glistening balls and with tinsel wrapped in bright tin foil paper in different colors, the light from the candles or electric lamps, reflected by the bright decorations, giving the appearance of lamps.

LEGENDS OF CHRISTMAS.

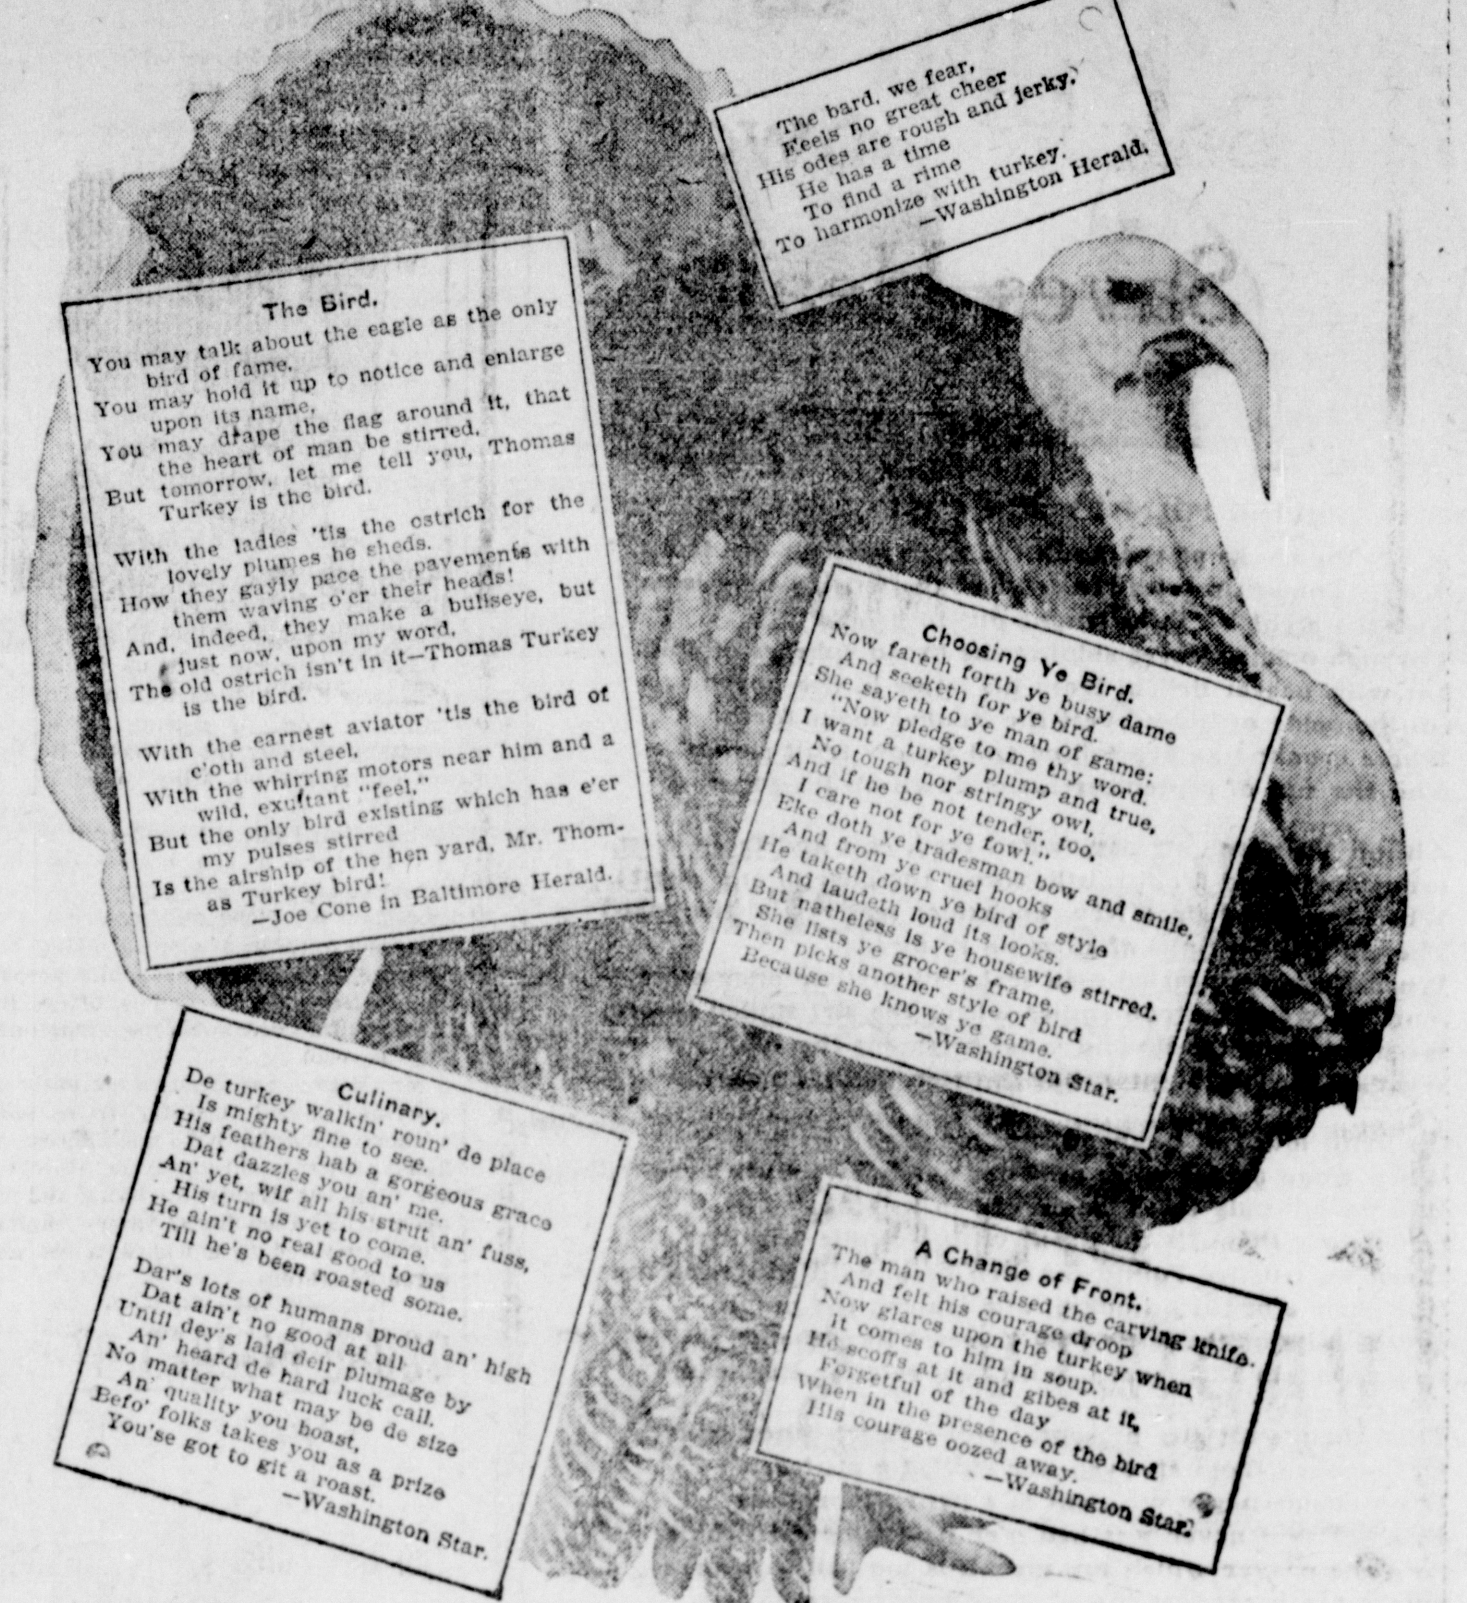

In Germany there is a legend that when Eve plucked the fatal apple the leaves shivered, the tree changed its nature and became evergreen, bearing witness in all seasons to the fall of man. Only once a year, on the birthday of the Redeemer, it blooms with lights and is laden with gifts of love, and so we have the Christmas tree.

In the Black forest regions in Germany there is a tradition that on each Christmas eve the Saviour comes to earth in the guise of a poor boy and asks alms at the house doors. On that day no beggar is refused food and shelter.

It is said that the popular tradition of the entrance of Santa Claus by means of the chimney arose from the story of Hertha, a goddess of the Norse mythology. When the festival in her honor was celebrated an altar of stones was erected in the house, and fir branches were piled upon it and set on fire. Through the dense smoke made by the green wood the goddess was supposed to descend and extend her influence according to the petitions of the worshippers.

Some of the Christmas hymns and carols are very ancient and have been in many cases transmitted orally through many generations. In England it is still the custom for men and boys, called the Christmas "waits," to go around on Christmas eve and sing carols.

The Turkey and the Poets

The Bird.
You may talk about the eagle as the only bird of fame,
You may hold it up to notice and enlarge upon its name,
You may drape the flag around it, that the heart of man be stirred,
But tomorrow, let me tell you, Thomas Turkey is the bird.

With the ladies 'tis the ostrich for the lovely plumes he sheds,
How they gaily pace the pavements with them waving o'er their heads,
And, indeed, they make a bulseye, but just now, upon my word,
The old ostrich isn't in it—Thomas Turkey is the bird.

With the earnest aviator 'tis the bird of c'oth and steel,
With the whirling motors near him and a wild, exultant "feed,"
But the only bird existing which has e'er my pulses stirred Is the alarist of the hen yard, Mr. Thomas Turkey bird!

—Joe Cone in Baltimore Herald.

Culinary.
De turkey walkin' 'roun' de place
Is mighty fine to see,
His feathers lob a gorgeous grace
An' yet, wif all his strut an' fuss,
He ain't no real good to come,
Till he's been roasted some.

Dar's lots of humans proud an' high
Dat ain't no good at all, Un'til dey's laid deir plumage by
An' hard de hard luck call,
An' quilty what may be de size
Efo' folks takes you as a prize
You's got to git a roast.

—Washington Star.

A Change of Front.
The man who raised the carving knife,
Now glares upon the turkey when
It comes to him in soup,
Forgetful of the day
When in the presence of the bird
His courage oozed away.

—Washington Star.

THINGS TO BE THANKFUL FOR.

NOW Thanksgiving day we see,
And we all should thankful be,
If you do not know just what
Are the blessings you have got Let us mention just a few
Which maybe pertain to you:

That your girls are not boys and are not therefore filled with a consuming ambition to play football.

That your boys are not girls and will not therefore tax your digestion later with the nice little things they have learned to make at cooking school.

That up to date none of the aviators have fallen down through your chimney flue, filling your drawing room with yells and soot.

That, thanks to the butcher having refused you a further extension of credit, that particular bill won't grow any bigger.

That, having during the last year lost the last remnant of your hair, your capillary attractions have at last ceased to fall out.

That, your joy riding chauffeur having reduced your $2,000 car to scrap iron, you are relieved of a $3,000 annual expense in maintaining him and it.

That, whatever else happens in the way of draining your pocketbook, you won't have to draw a check for the payment of your own funeral expenses.

That your well beloved wife considers her new winter hat a dream—only tread softly lest you both wake up when the first of the month brings the whistling postman to your door with sundry requests from the little milliner.

That, having remained a poor, obscure nonentity all your days, there is no temptation for any mean spirited, envious person to try to pull you down off your pedestal and prove to posterity that you didn't know a bean when you met one.

That, not being a woman, you don't have to wear a hobble skirt to trip you up when you go walking in public or carry your car fare in a small portemonnaie inside a pocketbook, inside a wallet, wrapped up in a handkerchief, inside a chain bag, inside your muff.

That, not being a man, you don't have to smoke cheap cigars, pretending that you like them better than those made of real tobacco, or think up foolishly transparent explanations for having stayed at the club until 4 o'clock in the morning. —Harper's Weekly.

Table Etiquette.

Don't scalp the Indian pudding; cut straight down.
What is sauce for the goose is also sauce for the turkey.

This is no day to pick a quarrel; try it on the bones.
Don't try to paint the table cloth red with the cranberry sauce.

Out of respect to the fallen gobbler don't try to gobble everything in sight.
Do not ask for helpings until you can no longer help yourself.

Don't lean on the table; probably the turkey is lean enough for everybody.
You may rest assured it is in perfectly good taste to knock the stuffing out of your appetite. —Baltimore Herald.

A wealthy Asheville (N. C.) woman fired her physician when he refused to treat her pet dog, and when the pup died buried it in a $200 coffin.

THANKSGIVING THE YEAR ROUND.

A WOMAN who has an almost old fashioned faith in Providence keeps what she calls her "thank offering box." Into this goes through the year, from one Thanksgiving to the middle of the following November, a sum of money for every accident escaped, calamity averted or special joy.

These offerings are not confined to her own escapes, but each time some member of her family bobs up from some threatened woe into the box goes the money offering of thanks.

Not the same amount is given each time, and rarely large sums, for the woman is not rich, but a nice little sum is realized.

This is devoted to giving some one a happy Thanksgiving day. It does not always go into the regular channels. As the woman says, the poor and hospitals are usually well cared for in holiday seasons.

Sometimes a homesick girl in a strange city is given car fare home for the Thanksgiving gathering she would otherwise miss. Once a music lover was given a season ticket to the symphony concerts. Again a doctor's bill that had worried a young stenographer who had her mother to support was quietly paid.

In speaking of her pretty custom the owner of the thank-offering box said: "Never have I known what thankfulness really meant until I started my box and saw the joy my thankfulness brings to others."

Such a box, besides cultivating one's bump of gratitude and making others equally grateful, cannot but afford great pleasure and interest in the spending. It is a gracious thought one more woman could profitably put into practice.

Thanksgiving In the Country

By JOE CONE.

BRING on the turkey, mother, an' the fixin's one an' all.

Pile 'em high upon the table for the big an' fur the small.

It is time to set the dinner, it is time to set us down,

An' my appetite, I reckon, is the biggest thing in town.

Bring on the sass an' dressin'. Don't leave anything behind.

Cuz today we want to sample, mother, each an' ev'ry kind.

So don't forget the puddin', an' please don't fergit the pie.

Today's Thanksgiving, mother, an' we're goin' to travel high.

Ain't that turkey jest a daisy? Ain't he juicy, plump an' brown?

Don't he make you hungry, mother? Ain't he fit for any crown?

See! His glossy skin is bustin', an' the stuffin's runnin' out.

Oh, I tell you, mother, children, this is heaven, jest about!

Draw your chairs around the table; loosen buttons where you kin.

You don't want your highest collars inter-ferin' with your chin.

Now I'm goin' to carve the turkey. Pass your plates, you youngsters five.

Today's Thanksgiving, mother. Ain't it good to be alive? —Baltimore Herald.

Some Eventful Thanksgivings.

Among the days set apart for thanksgiving which in reality have been days of national sorrow may be numbered that of 1875, when the entire country was mourning over the death of Vice President Henry Wilson, whose remains on the Thanksgiving day of that year were lying in state at Washington, that of 1878, when the German steamer Pommern, from New York, crowded with passengers, sank off Folkestone, England, carrying to a watery grave fifty souls; that of 1881, the morning of which found the country aching over the death of President Garfield; that of 1882, when another terrible loss at sea set the country mourning, this steamer Ocean Grove striking on the rocks of Cape Canoe and proving a coffin ship to many on board; that of 1885, when the country mourned over the death of Vice President Thomas Hendricks, sleeping his last sleep at his Indianapolis home.

A Thanksgiving Monologue.
I want that drumstick there
An' some raisin stuffin' too.
Uncle Jim, I like a pear
Fixed with pickles. Say, don't you?

Aunt Marie, I wish you'd pass
Me th' jam—that ain't enough!
What's that in that big green glass?

Aw, I mean that frothy stuff!
Kin I have some white meat, pa?
Yessir, I'm a-goin' to be Keerful. Sis, I want some slaw.

Gee, you're always stuttin' me!
Whoop—whoop—ouch! I never meant
To upset that gravy boat.

Guess that stuffin' must 'a went Down my Sunday meetin' throat!
Pa, ain't there one more drumstick?
Huh! Eat three if I'd jest try!

Um-yum! Now, I won't be sike!
Gimme 'nother piece o' pie!
—Charles C. Jones in Puck.

In a Gastronomic Way.
"Do you think Thanksgiving turkeys will go down?"

"I am sure of it."

"That's good. Do you think they will fall much?"

"I didn't say anything about their falling; I said they would go down." —Baltimore American.

A Dinner Jingle.
Ef no turkey dish you want Possum's good enough for you!
Ef no possum's on the plate
Rabbits overrun the state.

Anyway, in light we're livin',
An' we're willin' fer Thanksgiving!
—Atlanta Constitution.

HOW THAT TURKEY LASTS.

Roasted turk on Thursday;
Friday eat it cold;

Saturday it's turkey hash (Eat all that you can hold).

Sunday you will have croquettes—
Ha! Monday you'll eat stew;

Tuesday they will surely get Gee, you're always stuttin' me!

"Durn this turkey! How it lasts!"
Every one will say.

"Don't let's have another one Till next Thanksgiving day!"
—Philadelphia North American.

THE TRUTH OUT AT LAST.

Old Mother Hubbard she went to the sup-board

To get the poor dog a bone,
But when she got there the cupboard was bare.

And so the poor dog had none.
The cause of this osseous vacuum was,
The turkey, neck, stern and breast,
Being eaten, the cook had made up her mind

To make hash and soup of the rest.

SCORE INJURED BY EXPLOSION OF GAS

Ten City Blocks in Pittsburgh Are Shaken.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 26.—A score or more persons were injured, many windows were broken and ten city blocks and several buildings were shaken by an explosion of gas in a nine-foot sewer in the Lawrenceville district of Pittsburgh.

None of the injured persons will die, but the property loss will amount to thousands of dollars.

Five men working at a manhole in Thirty-eighth street were tossed into the air. Alexander Campbell, one of the number, was buried in the hole the explosion tore in the hillside.

Another hole 200 feet long and ten feet deep was torn in Sassafras alley, and another fifteen feet deep cut the surface of Thirty-third street. A section of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad track was lifted from its bed and a number of girls employed in the upper stories of a factory were cut by flying glass from broken windows.

Many of the other persons injured were struck by flying stones from the fissures in the streets. Ten city blocks were shaken.

MARYLAND MOUNTAINS AFIRE

Wall of Flame Sweeps Over an Area of Two Miles.

Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 26.—Fire started in North mountain, in the vicinity of Cherry run and, driven by a high wind blowing from the west, spread rapidly until it swept an area of two miles.

The reflection of the flames leaping high in the air was clearly seen in Hagerstown, eighteen miles distant. The dry leaves and undergrowth furnished ready fuel for the flames. Much valuable standing timber, cordwood and cross-ties were burned.

A large force of men are fighting the flames.

MONEY BILL UP TO PARTY CHIEFS

Democrats Call Conference on Currency Measure.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Democratic leaders, desperately hoping to dispose of the points of difference on the currency measure and to attempt to force party members to support President Wilson, called a party conference for today.

It was admitted by Democratic managers that the conference's conclusions would not be binding.

In the second day's debate Senator Hitchcock held the senate for more than an hour with his speech in support of the bill agreed upon by himself and the five Republicans of the senate committee.

Senator Shafroth, one of the Democratic committee members who helped in the preparation of the Owen bill, followed Senator Hitchcock. He insisted that less than eight regional banks would leave the country without adequate protection in case of a panic.

Still another currency plan was proposed by Senator Newlands in a resolution which he presented and discussed. His scheme would create state reserve associations, in which the membership of state and national banks would be compulsory. These associations would hold at least one-third of the reserves of all of the banks in their respective states. In turn they would deposit one-third of these reserves in a federal association at Washington.

Kill Catarrh Germ

Use Booths Hyomei

Try the sure and most effective way to reach the raw, tender inflamed mucous membrane infested with catarrh germs—use Hyomei. You breathe it—no stomach dosing.

If you suffer from raising of mucus, frequent sneezing, husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat or any other symptoms of catarrh—breathe the germ-destrorying air of Hyomei. It acts directly on the inflamed membranes, destroying the disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs and giving quick and permanent relief, or money refunded by People's Drug Store.

The complete outfit, including pocket inhaler and bottle of liquid, costs $1.00. Extra bottle of liquid, if later needed, 50 cents.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Lustre and Abundance.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Old Eyes Need Rayo-Light

"My eyes aren't what they used to be, but the light of this Rayo Lamp is certainly splendid".

The clear, soft light of the Rayo Lamp is grateful alike to old eyes and young. Built solidly of the best tin. Attractive, clean, easy to re-wick. Can be lighted without removing chimney or shade. The best light for the least price.
